The hockey game of the season took place Thursday afternoon last, between heavy w. light weights. Men who had ever played hockey before were barred out. The ice was slush and rubbers were preferred by a number of the players to skates. The teams were: Heavies—E. Looby captain, A. H. Goodwin, M. McCauley, W. Hovey, T. Jackson, Dr. McInnes, W. R. West. Light weights—W. Fielders, captain, A. Pierri, E. L. Smith, S. McNeill, St. Geo. MARKET FAIRS.

The following letter on the subject of sale fairs throughout Northern Alberta is worthy of serious consideration by everyone interested in the welfare of the district. Although the writer puts the cost to buyers of looking up cattle rather high, there is no doubt that it costs a great deal more than it would if sale fairs were organized, and there is no doubt that the cost comes off the price of the cattle, which is a loss to the farmer and those who depend on his prosperity for theirs, without being any gain to the buyer. It may be some time before it will be possible to organize a general association and a series of fairs throughout Northern Alberta as suggested by the correspondent, but there is no reason why such a fair should not be started at Edmonton, at once. It would be in the interest of everyone in town as well as in country. This is something that can be handled through the agricultural society without waiting for any other or further organization and without any great expense. The principal necessity being to arrange definitely with buyers to be here on a certain day, and give notice of the fact to farmers throughout the district. Of course cheap corrals and sheds with hay at a reasonable rate would be an additional inducement to cattlemen to attend the fair here. Such fairs as this are universal throughout the Old Country, where buyers and sellers are not nearly so far apart as here, and they should be a much greater convenience here.

MARKET FAIRS.

EDMONTON BULLETIN.

DEAR SIR: The question of cattle and hogs versus grain has been recently discussed through the press of Northern Alberta, and a unanimous decision rendered in favor of the former, which I think is a sound one. Yet I must say there is one obstacle connected with raising cattle and hogs as well as grain and that is we have not the proper facilities at our command for bringing the buyers and sellers in immediate touch with one another. The consequence is the buyer arrives from the south and lands in town a total stranger, and like a fish on the prairie looking for water, he is out of his latitude, and is utterly unaware of the whereabouts of the cattle raisers. The first thing staring him in the face is the insupportable necessity of a guide, and in many instances an interpreter. In order to secure good and efficient service and men that are familiar with the country he must pay accordingly. So to sum the whole inconveniences up, it really costs the purchaser, roughly speaking, four dollars per head for every head purchased, for this service. Now I would ask you pays for this service; the answer is certainly the farmer. This I contend in the present state of affairs is a barrier towards cattle raising just as much as our high freight rates is a barrier towards grain raising. The purchaser in order to derive a paying profit must land his stock at the different stations at a certain figure, and instead of paying the full value to the farmer direct he is compelled to jew him down four dollars per head to reimburse the cost and expense of guide and interpreter. Now why not remedy this evil and dispense with the folly of engaging a guide and give the farmer full value for his stock. This remedy to this can be effected by establishing a market fair association covering all of Northern Alberta; or in other words all that portion of Alberta lying north of Bowden, and hold annual or semi-annual market fairs all over the district; and let the dates be so arranged that all stock buyers can take in the whole country in one circuit. For instance say we have a fair on the first of a certain month. Red Deer on the third, Lacombe on the fifth, Ponoka on the seventh, Wetaskiwin on the ninth, Leduc on the eleventh, South Edmonton on the thirteenth and Edmonton on the fifteenth, and so on taking in the whole district. Legislation establishing the association could be enacted somewhat as follows: Let the settlers of each station along the line of the C. & E. together with all other sufficiently populated settlements that desire to form themselves into market fair sub-districts, call meetings and elect from among their number a director, who would be a general observer and manager in all cases respecting his particular sub-district. Those directors when elected could meet in Edmonton or South Edmonton and elect one of their number as president. This president, when elected, would be general superintendent all over the district, and would be vested with full power as to setting the dates of the series of fairs every spring and fall and the publishing of the same in whatever manner might be deemed best. The directors of the respective sub-districts would be authorized to receive and receipt for all member's fees, which would be set at say 25c.; this I think would be sufficient to defray all expenses connected with the association, as the only expense of any importance would be the expense of erecting cattle yards in every sub-district, advertising and other miscellaneous expenses which would be very trifling. As the president would have advertising to do, it would be necessary for each director to remit say 25 per cent. of all membership fees to him immediately after the close of their sub-district, and after the holding of each fair, the balance of the receipts could be applied to the general sub-district expenses. To prevent stock men from driving in large bands of cattle and horses, it would be advisable to have some restrictions regarding the number, restricting each member to enter only say five head, any number over five would be subject to an extra charge of say 10c. per head each fair day. In all settlements where agricultural societies are already formed the presidents of those societies could be ex officio directors for their respective market fair sub-districts, and hold their annual fair show on the same day and grounds with their market fair. This combination would enhance both and make it more interesting all around.

If once this market fair association was properly established and carried into successful operation, all outside buyers would govern themselves accordingly, and make it a business to follow up these fairs every spring and fall. The farmer in contemplating his sales would make fair day his aim, drive his stock to the fair, once there find himself business with the purchaser. Further, it would not only be the means of bringing together the buyer and seller, but it would be the means of establishing a legitimate market price for all kinds of live stock, and in time it would prove to be the initial step towards establishing a permanent and general market all over Northern Alberta, which I contend at the present time is one of our most urgent needs.

BRITISH PACIFIC SQUELCHED.

KAMLOOBS SECTION.

The correspondence between the British Pacific Railway company and the Provincial government was produced in the legislature on Friday last. It is voluminous and includes a copy of the original and amended proposed draft agreement and nine letters between E. V. Bodwell and Hon. J. H. Turner. The parties represented by the British Pacific contract are Sir Thomas Selby Tanager, Bart., London; C. N. Armstrong, and Hon. J. R. Thibault, Montreal; and La Fayette Hayt De Prives, and Baynes Wright Southwaite, London. In brief, the company asks for a guarantee on six millions of bonds, or $240,000 per annum, and 12,000,000 acres of the public lands, offering a security of $200,000 for the performance of the contract and one-fifth of the land grant bonds to be held by the government as further security. The company further propose to endeavor to have continental connection and complete the line before July, 1902, to the boundary of this province. The property of the company to be free of taxation during construction and the lands for 25 years. The government decline on the grounds that the aid asked is out of proportion to the revenues of the country, and that a sufficient guarantee of transcontinental connection and other benefits promised is not given. The concluding paragraph of the letter by Mr. Turner says: "My government is fully alive to the importance of the building of this railway through the interior part of this province, and of a transcontinental connection, but my government is not prepared to go so far for even for this presumed benefit as to seriously affect the financial position of this province for a great number of years to come."

GENERAL NEWS.

FREE PRESS Ottawa despatch, March 12. "The bill to create a new electoral district in the Territories and change the dividing boundary of Eastern and Western Assiniboia, is likely to be introduced to-morrow."

TRIBUNE Ottawa despatch of March 11th: "Bills respecting the Winnipeg and Great Northern railway and Edmonton Railway and Improvement company passed a third reading."

A settlers' train for the Northwest left Union Station Toronto at noon March 10th, containing 150 Ontario farmers and families, bound for various points in Manitoba and the west. A live stock train follows this evening. This practically starts the Northwest movement for the year.

A Cairo despatch of Feb. 14th says: "The advance of the British Egyptian troops from Wady-Halfa up the Nile upon Dongola will be commenced without delay according to statements made in semi-official circles here. The Connaught rangers have already been ordered to Wady-Halfa. The British liberal papers support the expedition."

The total work of last season in the Cariboo gold mines of Cariboo, B. C. was 45 days 9 hours, and the gold produced for the season reached $90,306. The estimated gross product of the mine for 1896 is $300,000, the net profits $213,000. The report says that when the appliances are completed the annual net profit will be $540,000. Mr. J. B. Holman, the manager, says it is the richest gold mine in the world.

Regina Leader: "Although a Frenchman and a Catholic himself, Mr. Laurier has shown that he is possessed of manliness and courageous independence in the face of the hierarchy, which glow in vivid contrast to the shameful cowardice of the Orange Premier. Two weeks ago we said that Mr. Laurier was facing the crisis of his political life. We are bound to say he has triumphantly faced the crisis, and has emerged immeasurably strengthened in the confidence of his followers and the respect and admiration of his opponents. Before the 3rd of March he was a clever, an affable, an estimable, an honest man,—on that date he became a great man."

Whatever the result of the debate goes Mr. Laurier's reputation will be the gainer. Like Ajax defying the lightning, he has defied the thunders of the hierarchy of his own party. Such a plain unadorned vocal "mind your own business" has rarely been uttered by one of the faithful, Mr. Laurier's subsequent career will be anxiously watched. If he succeeds he will have done so with all the honours of war. If he fails he will fail because he has been knifed by his church, and because the elements of evil are as yet too strong for the elements of good in this world. But he will receive the admiration and respect of all right thinking men. His many words will ring down the ages as an outcrop protest against ecclesiastical dictation. He will rank as the Canadian Cavour. He may feel certain that every Protestant and every liberal Roman Catholic will stand by him to the last.—Toronto Week.

EDMONTON ALBERTA.

MANAWAN CORRESPONDENCE.

Quite a stir has been occasioned here by the visit of some of Fort Saskatchewan's great lights. Their object is to get Alberta constructed in to a province. Then hard times would cease. Maybe they would for some people. Frank Marriaggi, of the Mansion House, was the principal speaker and handled his subject well.

J. Richardson has got a celebrated Clydesdale stallion for the coming season of '96. It is owned by Mr. H. Cinnamon of Vermilion stock ranch. The people of this district are to be congratulated on acquiring the services of such a valuable animal. His weight is about 1700 pounds, a dark bay in color with that beautiful symmetry of form which goes to make up a horse which catches the eye of all horsemen.

We regret to learn that Mr. Bibbee has decided to leave this district. Mr. Bibbee last summer purchased a mining claim in B. C., near Kaslo and he intends moving a part of his family there in the early spring. With them we lose one of Alberta's best settlers. Genial and kind to a fault they have won the respect and esteem of every person in their wide circle of acquaintance. We wish them luck and bountiful returns wherever they go. And hope that they may see their way clear to return to us at an early date. One of the sons will remain with the stock here.

R. L. Hughes returned from Edmonton this week. He purchased some oats from a local dealer for seed. When he got home he found that the bags were filled with inferior oats up to within six inches of the top. Dick's opinion of the dealer is a good one and he says that someone has got to put up for his trip to town.

March 12th, 1896.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA.

Meetings were held at the following places by Mr. Tims, M. L. A., and Messrs Marriaggi and J. F. Forbes, of the provincial government committee: Deep Creek school house, Edna school house, Victoria, Egg lake, Beaver lake (east side) and Beaver lake west side. At every point, after Mr. Tims had finished with the topics as representative of the Victoria district, the question of provincial government was fully discussed, and good speeches were made for and against the move; and with the exception of Beaver lake, (east) the petitions in favor of having provincial government were signed to a man. It was a pleasure to hear the intelligent speeches of the settlers throughout the whole district. To an eastern man accustomed to see very little knowledge of public affairs in the country places, the meetings referred to above would have been an eye opener. Yet the reason is simple namely: in 7 cases out of 10 the settlers who come west are possessed of more energy and intelligence than those who remain east, and are accustomed to think and act for themselves. A most extraordinary state of affairs was found to exist and brought up at the different meetings, and as the department of the interior comes in for the blame, a memo. of the grievances is given and it is hoped that such serious complaints will be remedied with as little delay as possible.

1st. A number of settlers have been settled in the vicinity of Victoria from 10 to 25 years, they want their patents and cannot get them on account of the townships not being subdivided, although several petitions have been sent the government asking for survey.

2nd. The old trail (the oldest in Northern Alberta) from Victoria and Egg lake, west to Beaver Creek bridge, a distance of about 25 miles, has not been surveyed. It is the only road that every one can travel, until thousands of dollars have been spent in opening up the regular road allowances.

3rd. The land office at Beaver lake is closed and has been since last fall. Seven-tenths of the good vacant homestead land is that adjacent to Beaver lake. No business of any kind in connection with a land office can be done without travelling by team anywhere from 100 to 150 miles, which is a strange way of trying to encourage the settlement and development of a new country.

4th. Some three years ago the minister of the interior gave a definite promise that the federal government would open up a colonization road from South Edmonton railway station to Beaver lake, so that the settlers could save from 40 to 75 miles each trip made to the nearest railway market, nothing has been done.

The satisfied settler is the best immigrant agent a country can have, but here hundreds of settlers ask each other if this is the place to ask people to come to, where every obstacle is thrown in their way from the moment they arrive, all for want of a little common sense expenditure. It is hoped that an immediate change will be made and stop the agitation now existing and which has every reason to continue until present grievances are removed. March 13th, '96.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

Sir: Will you please open a short space in your paper for the discussion of the advisability of enforcing the "Curfew" in Edmonton. It appears to me that the town would be greatly benefited were a by-law passed enacting that all children under the ages of 12 should be off the streets at 7 o'clock in the winter months and 9 o'clock in the summer months unless accompanied by their parents or guardians, with a penalty for infraction of spending a night in the lock up.

Thanking you in anticipation of a space in the "BULLETIN" and trusting that some of the older heads, and therefore more experienced, will take this matter up.

Yours truly,
A. G. RANDALL.

FROM FORT RAE.

A party consisting of Jas. Hislop, A. Costello, Alphonse Boileau, Fred Rowland and D. Evans arrived from the Landing on Monday evening. Mr. Hislop, who trades near Fort Rae, started south on Jan. 12th, with dogs and mail, and has been at Fort Rae to Fort Resolution across Great Slave Lake in five days. He left Resolution on Feb. 4th, accompanied by Costello, who went out last fall to Resolution with Ed. Nagle. From Resolution they were seven days in reaching Fort Rae on Great Slave Lake river where Alphonse Boileau joined them. This was a slow trip owing to stormy weather. Four days from Fort Smith brought them to Chipewyan. They were joined there by J. R. Donovan and D. Evans, in the employ of Colin Fraser, trader. Six days from Chipewyan brought them to McMurray via two trains of dogs. From McMurray to Lac la Biche occupied eight days. This was very slow travelling, the delay being caused by scarcity of fish for the dogs along the route. From Lac la Biche they came to the Landing with their dogs, and from the Landing they came in by freighters' teams. Mr. Hislop brought two dogs all the way from Fort Rae. The others which started from Fort Rae were left at Chipewyan, having become foot sore. Mr. Hislop traded at Fort Rae during the two preceding winters. The winter of '92-'93 he spent at Chipewyan and that of '91-'92 at the Landing. So that it is nearly five years since he has been in civilization. The world moves slowly and smoothly at Fort Rae. Four mails may arrive in the year, but two of these are extra, so that there is only one winter and one summer packet to be depended upon. There are private mails forwarded by the H. B. Co. at their own expense and for their own accommodation and mail is not carried for opposition traders such as Mr. Hislop. Therefore he has not been in close touch with the outer world, but seems to be none the worse. Fort Rae is on the extreme northern arm of Great Slave Lake and is in latitude 63. In midwinter there is about four and a half hours sunlight and in the summer, although the sun goes down, there is sufficient light all night to read from the middle of May to the middle of July. It is the nearest trading post to the Barren Grounds, the edge of the so-called woods being about 100 miles from the post, and the Indians trading at Fort Rae are the principal musk or hunters and are the furthest north eastern tribe on the continent, their hunting grounds adjoining those of the Esquimaux along the Arctic coast. The Fort is a small Hudson's Bay post of which John Wilson is in charge. There is a Roman Catholic mission near by of which Rev. Father Roure is in charge. Two or three families of half breeds, formerly employees of the H. B. Company, live near the Fort. Mr. Hislop's trading post is 16 miles further north on a small lake. This is the extent of the evidence of civilization at Fort Rae. The country is rock and muskeg, with a growth of small spruce, scattered over it, and there are abundances of lakes, most of which have whitefish in them, and some have trout. The Indians of the region are of the Dog Rib tribe, a branch of the Chipewyan nation. Their principal dependence for food is on fish and reindeer. The reindeer or caribou are a small deer not much larger than a sheep which are found in immense bands on the Barren grounds in the summer, and in the woods between Fort Rae and the Mackenzie in the winter. In the migrations westward in the fall and eastward in the spring, hundreds are slaughtered near Fort Rae and from this hunt the principal supply of provisions is made. The Indians living east of Fort Rae, live chiefly on caribou meat and hunt the musk or caribou for their robes for trading purposes. West of Fort Rae the Indians towards the Mackenzie, the animals having five fur are found and the Indians who hunt them find their principal food supply in the fish of the numerous lakes. In summer travel is almost entirely by canoe and in winter by dogs.

Winter set in earlier than usual this year. The ground began to freeze about Sept. 10th and Great Slave Lake froze about October 15th. This is five to ten days earlier than usual. The winter was particularly stormy and cold throughout the North. The fall fishing was poor, but an immense slaughter of deer was made close to Fort Rae in the latter end of October when they were crossing the lake on the ice in their annual migration. A small hunt of musk or caribou made last spring, not more than 200 being killed by hunters from Fort Rae. Owing to the low price of robes the traders do not encourage the Indians to kill them. No serious sickness is reported around Fort Rae, but a disease which was said to be German measles prevailed last fall causing one or two deaths. At Providence Fort and mission on the Mackenzie 28 deaths occurred from the same disease. The disease also occurred at the newly established Church of England mission and school at the mouth of Hay river on the south shore of Great Slave Lake where Rev. Mr. Marsh is in charge and Dr. Rezin is assisting, but there were no good work among the Indians. It was formerly located at Ft. Resolution but has been removed. There is a Roman Catholic mission at Ft. Resolution. F. Nagle, formerly of Edmonton, is also trading at Resolution. Campbell Young, brother of H. S. Young, is managing Mr. Hislop's post at Fort Rae during his absence.

A good fur trade is reported throughout the north except that in the Mackenzie region the market which is an important fur, seems to be falling. On the other hand mouth of the lower Peace river in the Athabasca district martens were never so numerous. They are probably migrating.

At Chipewyan on Lake Athabasca the H. B. post is the head post of the district and Dr. McKay is the officer in charge. There are important church of England and Roman Catholic missions. Colin Fraser is trading there and is making a good trade. He has an outfit at Fond du lac at the east end of Lake Athabasca in charge of Thomas Kerr, and another at Little Red river on the Peace river from Chipewyan in charge of Louis Laframboise.

The H. B. Co. are building a new hull for the steamer, Grahame at Chipewyan this winter under the superintendence of the engineer, Geo. Emerson. The Roman Catholic mission also has a new steamer completed at Chipewyan ready for launching next spring.

The report of a murder having been committed at Vermilion during the winter, which was circulated here some time ago, was grossly mistaken. The occurrence upon which the story was based took place some time in November last. There was no knife used and Gus Clarke, who is in the H. B. employ at Vermilion and whose name has been coupled with the affair, had not the remotest connection with it. Whiskey was the cause of the trouble. There was a drinking spree in progress and a young Indian died, or was done to death unintentionally, during the spree. Dr. McKay, who is a J. P., has gone from Chipewyan to Vermilion to investigate the matter.

A number of trappers are plying their vocation along the lower Athabasca and the travellers complain that they are causing poison indiscriminately to the danger of the dogs of travellers and the destruction of large numbers of fur bearing animals beyond the number which the trappers ever find to make use of.

The members of the party will remain at Edmonton until the first open water, when they will return down the Athabasca with fresh supplies of goods for their several trading posts.
